

Menifee Valley Amateur Radio Club

Amateur Radio . . . The Original Wireless!

- Reach the world: Communicate around the globe from your own home.
- Make new friends: Join an enthusiastic group of amateurs in a new hobby.
- Earn your license: Gain the distinction of being an FCC licensed radio operator.
- Help the community: Assist with fun local events and even help during emergencies.

What do we do?

Amateur radio is about having fun and making contacts . . . literally. We learn how the science of radio works and make contact with other amateurs throughout the country and even around the world. We challenge and support each other, build new skills, and we even support emergency services during disasters.

Who can join?

In short . . . anyone. Radio operators come from all walks of life and have every kind of background. You don't need a degree or even a technical background. If you can use a phone and you like a good challenge then you can be an amateur radio operator. Come on out and meet the club!
